In this startling study of human emotion Dacher Keltner investigates an unanswered question of human evolution: If humans are hardwired to lead lives that are “nasty, brutish and short,” why have we evolved with positive emotions like gratitude?

Dacher Keltner was born in Jalisco, Mexico, the offspring of two early members of the counterculture. His mother, a literature professor, and father, an artist, raised him and his brother in Laurel Canyon in the late 60s where those North Hollywood hills were filled with revolution.

Dacher Keltner is a professor of psychology at University of California Berkeley where he directs the Berkeley Social Interaction Lab. He is also the founder and faculty director of the Greater Good Science Center.

Born to Be Good: The Science of a Meaningful Life
March 27th, 2019

In Born to Be Good, Dacher Keltner demonstrates that humans are not hardwired to lead lives that are nasty, brutish, and short—we are in fact born to be good. He investigates an old mystery of human evolution: why have we evolved positive emotions like gratitude, amusement, awe, and compassion that promote ethical action and are the fabric of cooperative societies.
